DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 6-9, and 20-23 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

2. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The recited limitations pertaining to the detailed calculations involving convolutional and additive noise, with calculations of the corresponding vectors, is not explicitly taught by the prior art of record.

Specification

3. Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

A patent abstract is a concise statement of the technical disclosure of the patent and should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. If the patent is of a basic nature, the entire technical disclosure may be new in the art, and the abstract should be directed to the entire disclosure. If the patent is in the nature of an improvement in an old apparatus, process, product, or composition, the abstract should include the technical disclosure of the improvement. In certain patents, particularly those for compounds and compositions, wherein the process for making and/or the use thereof are not obvious, the abstract should set forth a process for making and/or use thereof. If the new technical disclosure involves modifications or alternatives, the abstract should mention by way of example the preferred modification or alternative.

Art Unit: 2655

The abstract should not refer to purported merits or speculative applications of the invention and should not compare the invention with the prior art.

Where applicable, the abstract should include the following:

- (1) if a machine or apparatus, its organization and operation;
- (2) if an article, its method of making;
- (3) if a chemical compound, its identity and use;
- (4) if a mixture, its ingredients;
- (5) if a process, the steps.

Extensive mechanical and design details of apparatus should not be given.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-5,10-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bahl (4817156).

As per claims 1,11,15, Bahl (4817156) teaches a method and apparatus for adapting a speech recognition system to speech data (abstract) comprising:

“computing alignment information between.....system” as computing similarity relations (col. 3 lines 36-40; col. 5 lines 50-55);

“computing an original spectra....mean vector” as the vector is a spectral representation of speech (col. 5 lines 34-48), including a mean, or average (col. 17 lines 12-16);

Art Unit: 2655

“estimating....utterance” as maximum likelihood estimator (Fig. 15, subblock 608);

“transforming a current feature vector....spectral domain” as linear average transition probabilities (col. 16 lines 62-65).

As per claims 2,3,12,13,16,17, Bahl (4817156) teaches both transforming current feature vectors and model vectors (Fig. 9)

As per claims 4,14,18, Bahl (4817156) teaches MLST (Fig. 15, subblock 608).

As per claims 5,19, Bahl (4817156) teaches further computation of a likelihood (as maximum likelihood based upon the previous feature vector transformation – col. 16 line 55 – col. 17 line 14).

As per claim 10, Bahl (4817156) teaches a forward-backward Baum-Welch algorithm (Fig. 15, col. 2 line 50).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 3/2/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. As per the arguments on the bottom of page 2 to page 3 of the response, examiner notes that applicant's arguments pertain to the results of the instant invention, and not the claimed invention. As per applicant's arguments on pp 3-4 of the response, examiner argues that the smoother processor of Bahl, which performs a linear averaging function, produces "smoothed" data which can be construed as an estimate of the original data. Examiner also argues that the probabilities of Bahl represent acoustic features (col. 5 lines 33-40; and feature vectors → col. 12 lines 13-15; examiner also notes that it is well known in the art of speech signal processing that the set of acoustical features includes spectra). Although certain aspects of applicants disclosed invention are not taught by Bahl, the scope of the current claim language is taught by the Bahl reference.
